MLW Industries Limited of Montreal has announced the sale of twenty two thousand six hundred horse power locomotives to Cuba....here is the story...

Granma, Cuba's official communist party newspaper, has given big play to the purchase of the twenty locomatoives from the Canadian firm. Last year, MLW Industries sold Cuba thirty locomotives but only after solving a number of well publicized problems. MLW Industries at that time was known as the MLW-Worthington, LIM and was a fully owned subsidiary of a U.S. company. Last years sale of locomotives to Cuba was only carried out after the U.S. citizens on the MLW-Worthington Board of directors were replaced by Canadians.

Now, the Worthington has been dropped from its name and the Canadian MLW Industries has had absolutely no problem in making the large sale to Cuba.

This is Lionel Martin in Havana for CBC Radio News.
